THREE MEN KILLED AND 7 WOUNDED WHEN STRIKE MOB CHARGES BRADDOCK PLANT

County Officials May Call Out National Guard by Tonight.

MORE FACTORIES CLOSE DOWN

Plants in Pittsburg District Stop Work to Protect Employes From Pickets; No Disorder in Westinghouse District; Increase for Some.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, May 2.—Three men were killed and seven wounded when the mob which has been attacking manufacturing plants in the Turtle Creek and Monongahela valleys charged the 13th street entrance of the Edgar Thompson Steel Company's plant at Braddock this afternoon.

The mob charged the gates to the mill and was driven back by deputies. Reforming a little farther down the street, it made another rush and attempting to scale the fence was met with a volley from the guards' revolvers. This halted the rush and dazed the crowd retired.

Sheriff Richards at once conferred with state officials asking that the national guard be ordered to the disturbed section tonight.

OTHER STRIKERS QUIET.

PITTSBURG, May 2.—Not a picket appeared in the vicinity of the Westinghouse factories in the Turtle Creek valley this morning, the strikers sleeping late after their ineffectual attempt yesterday to bring out the men in the Braddock and Rankin plants of the Carnegie Steel Company. At strike headquarters it was said that plans had not been abandoned for a demonstration in Homestead later in the day where they hoped to have the workmen in the Carnegie mills join their movement for an eight hour day.

Although a number of persons were hurt during yesterday's disorder, no arrests of strikers have yet been made.

Pickets appeared at the plants of the American Steel & Wire Company in Braddock and the United States Steel Corporation at Rankin early in the day and one who attempted to stop a workman from entering the Rankin plant was soundly thrashed in the fight which followed. Soon afterward the management closed both mills for the protection of the men it was stated. Other plants in the vicinity closed for the same cause were the McClintock-Marshall Construction Company Braddock Machine & Manufacturing Company, Columbia Steel & Shafting Company, and the Standard Chain Company. This action added about 5,000 men to those already idle in that section.

In the McKees Rocks district, where 1,100 shopmen of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad have been out since last week, 650 women employes of the cigar and enameling factories struck for improved working conditions and 200 machinists of the Taylor-Wilson Manufacturing Company struck for an eight hour day. One arrest was made when the women walked out.

THREATEN RANKIN PLANTS.

PITTSBURG, May 2.—Officials of the American Steel & Wire Company this afternoon appealed to Sheriff Richards for protection for their plants at Rankin and Braddock, news having reached them that 3,000 strikers from the Turtle Creek valley, armed with clubs and stones, were marching towards the works. The Carnegie Steel Company also asked for protection. A small force of deputies have been on duty at the plants for several days.

Sheriff Richards at once dispatched a force of deputies to assist the men on duty and said he would take up the matter with the governor. It was understood at the court house that if the situation became more threatening the county authorities would ask for the state constabulary which is now at Wilkes-Barre, or the national guard.

20,000 GARMENT WORKERS QUIT.

NEW YORK, May 2.—In retaliation for the lockout of 60,000 workers on women's garments begun a few days ago by the Manufacturers' Protective Association, the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union today ordered a strike of all its members in the city whether employed in the shops belonging to the protective association or in independent shops.

It is estimated that this order applies to 20,000 persons, including about 30,000 apprentices and others not already affected by the lockout. Strikers employed at the so-called friendly shops, however, will return to work in 24 hours.

WAGE INCREASE GRANTED.

PITTSBURG, May 2.—Three thousand five hundred men employed by the West Penn Steel Company and the Allegheny Steel Company at Brackenridge, Pa., were today granted increases in wages ranging from 5 to 12 per cent according to their work. A voluntary increase of 10 per cent was also announced for all its employes by the Tyler Tube Company at Washington, Pa. About 750 men are affected.

MUCH GARDENING.

Demand for Onion Sets is Particularly Big.

That there will be a great deal of gardening this year is evidenced by the call for seeds at the various grocery and hardware stores. Onion sets at 10 cents a quart were especially in demand and some dealers ran completely out of them.

One grocer reported at least 20 more calls for seed onions yesterday than he could fill.

COUNCIL WILL FINANCE BIG CLEAN UP ON MAY 10

Will Back Board of Health to the Extent of $120; Residents to Pay 10 Cents a Barrel.

That the city is willing to co-operate in the Clean-Up Day movement to the extent of financing the Board of Health's campaign was demonstrated at council meeting last night when an appropriation of not more than $120 was set aside for this purpose.

The Board of Health plans to conduct a systematic clean up on May 10 with two teams and six men covering each of the five districts of the city. Each resident will be assessed 10 cents a barrel for all of the refuse carted away by the teams and the proceeds will go to pay the expense. Council's appropriation is merely to back the board in its campaign. If more than $120 is realized in the clean up the balance will go into the city treasury.

If a resident manifests no interest in the clean up and does not co-operate with the board, the health authorities have power to clean up his place and charge the cost against him.

This will be the first time a Clean Up has been undertaken under a systematic plan and the health authorities declare it is bound to be a success.

DENIES REDUCTION

Milk Dealer Says It's Impossible to Cut the Price.

A milk dealer called The Courier this morning to deny published reports that there would be a reduction in the price of milk this summer. He said that none of the dealers felt able to cut the price on account of the high prices of feed and other expenses of the business.

At that there is a wide variance in the prices. Inquiry of three families on the same street elicited the information that one was paying 10 cents, another nine and third eight, from three different dealers.

PITTSBURG CARMEN ACCEPT NEW SCALE; RETURN TO WORK

Strikers Vote 5 to 1 to Accept Compromise Submitted by Company.

TRAFFIC SOON TO BE NORMAL

Expected That All Cars Will be Running as Usual by Midnight; Motor Trucks in Waiting Rush the Men to the Barns to Get Their Cars.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, May 2.—By a vote of 5 to 1 the striking conductors and motormen of the Pittsburg Railway Company this afternoon accepted the compromise proposition worked out last night by the Pittsburg Publishers Association and department store managers and returned immediately to work.

Motor trucks were in waiting and they were whirled from the Labor Temple to the barns without any loss of time.

It was expected normal conditions would be restored on all lines before midnight.

The new scale which is to remain in force for two years provides for an increase on city and suburban lines. The city minimum wage, 27 cents an hour prevails for the first six months of employment and the maximum 35 cents applies after four years. The rates for suburban service is one cent less.

Some $450,000 a year is added to the company's payroll.

The strike which began Sunday at midnight inconvenienced almost a million people in Allegheny county which is covered by the company's lines.

The report of the Carnegie Free Library, submitted this afternoon by Miss Margaret Whiteman, librarian, shows a total circulation of 5,413 books during the month of April.

NO PACIFIST; YOU CAN TELL FROM HIS TALK.

Assistant District Attorney and School Solicitor H. G. May is no pacifist. You can tell by his talk that he is strong for defense and preparedness and all that.

People who have money often speak of certified checks. Not so with Mr. May. At school board meeting last night he called them "fortified" checks. And they all laughed.

FRENCH REPORT BIG GAIN ON SLOPE OF DEAD MAN HILL

Take a First Line Trench 500 Meters Long and Take 100 Prisoners; Little Town Hall Burns.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, May. 2.—A strong attack was made by French troops last night on German positions southeast of Fort Douaumont on the Verdun front. The French captured a first line German trench 500 meters long, the war office announced this afternoon, and took 100 prisoners.

West of the Meuse activity of the artillery continued through the night from the Ovoncourt region to Dead Man Hill.

The war office also announced that in their attacks on April 29 and 30 on the north slope of Dead Man Hill, the French gained German trenches over a front of about 1,000 meters and a depth of 300 to 500 meters.

BERLIN, May 2.—The town hall at Lille, France has been burned. The librarian, a French woman, selected the most valuable books of the famous library there and handed them to German soldiers who formed a chain to remove them from the building.

The Lille fire department was unable to save the town hall but retarded the spreading of the flames to neighboring buildings.

The board met last night in regular session and transacted business of a routine nature. This year's term of school has been a very successful one.

COUNCIL BUYS AN AUTO CHASSIS FOR EAST SIDE WAGON

Pays $650 for A. D. Soisson's Pope-Hartford Touring Car.

GARBAGE CONTRACT NOT LET

W. L. Corbin Is Willing to Pay the City All the Way to $25 a Year for Garbage Collection Privilege; James Francis and Walter Artis Offer 10%.

A Pope-Hartford automobile chassis with a 50-horsepower engine, to be remodeled for a fire truck, was purchased for $650 from A. D. Soisson by the city council last evening. The machine will be cut down and the present East Side chemical wagon placed on the chassis.

Six bids, offering as many different makes of machines for sale, were offered at prices ranging from $100 to $1,000. The Pope-Hartford being the same make as the present auto truck, was purchased, the councilmen thinking expenses might be cut down if the supplies which have to be bought could be used on either machine.

The Soisson automobile has a wheel base of 124 inches and weighs 4,500 pounds. Other bids gave lower prices in good makes of cars but all were passed up in favor of the Pope model. The lowest priced car was offered by James McGivern of Scottdale. He did not name the make of the machine but claimed it had between 65 and 70 horsepower, with a speed of 70 miles per hour. His price was $400. John Duggan, Jr., offered his Packard automobile, which he claims is as powerful as the truck now owned by the city, for $1,000.

Bids for the gathering of garbage and operating the furnace were offered by James Francis and Walter Artis, in partnership, and W. L. Corbin. The bids were not passed on as council decided to have City Solicitor E. C. Higbee draw up a revised garbage resolution which will be introduced at a meeting to be held Wednesday evening. The new resolution will then be passed on next Monday evening.

In his bid, W. L. Corbin offered to take charge of the plant on a six year franchise with the collection of the garbage of the city and operation of the plant entirely under his direction, and to pay the city $25 a year for the privilege.

James Francis and Walter Artis asked for the exclusive right for the collection of all garbage in the city and agreed to keep the plant in repair except in case of storm damage. They also agreed to pay the city 10% of all the money collected, this amount to be paid each month. The books of the company would be open for inspection of the city authorities. The contracts will not be let until next Monday evening when the new garbage ordinance will be passed.

The Courier Company was awarded the contract for the printing of 2,000 engineers' item sheets. The bid offered was $43, being $1.50 lower than that of the William G. Johnson Company of Pittsburg, the next lowest bidder.

The bid of the Keystone Iron & Metal Company, for the purchase of the old hose and couplers was accepted. The company offered $1.62½ per 100 pounds on all the hose and 16¾ cents a pound on all couplings. The hose includes old fire hose and rubber street hose. The only other bidder, the Daniel & Miller Junk Company, offered $1.90 for each 100 pounds of fire hose and $1 for each 100 pounds of rubber hose. The bid for brass was 15 cents per pound.

A letter from the Connellsville Automobile Club asking that unpaved streets in the city be oiled, was read. The club pointed out that dirt roads in other cities which were oiled had given satisfaction and asked that one or two be tried here as an experiment. Councilman Duggan said he understood that the oiled roads had been a success in some sections where the roads were of sand and gravel, but he thought that the oil on the clay roads of the city would only help to make them muddier when it rained. Council will look into the matter and decide later whether the experiment will be tried.

Nothing was done in the matter of insuring the volunteer firemen out of the relief fund advanced by the state each year. The hose company will be asked to hold a meeting and, if they are satisfied with the plan, to pass a resolution authorizing the council to approve it.

Council approved a resolution for the purchase of flags with which the William F. Kurtz Post, No. 164, Grand Army of the Republic, will decorate the graves of soldiers on Decoration Day. These flags are purchased by council each year.

The entire council was present at the meeting.

SEVENTH STREET SCHOOL WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION

Highest Bidder Gets Old Structure at Sale Saturday, May 13.

BOARD KEEPS THE FURNITURE

Only the Building is to Go Under the Auctioneer's Hammer; Board Leases Fayette Field for Athletic Purposes; Big Exoneration List is Approved.

On Saturday, May 13, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the old Seventh street school house will be sold at auction to the highest bidder. School board decided last night to dispose of the structure to the one willing to pay the highest price for it. An auctioneer will be hired to cry the sale and the successful bidder will be required to pay cash on the spot and raze the structure by June 1. In the meantime the pupils will be "doubled up" at one of the other West Side buildings.

The board reserved the furniture, heating plant, toilet fixtures, bell and other school equipment. Only the building itself will be sold. The haste with which it is to be removed indicates that the board intends to rush the construction of the new grade building that is to go up on this site.

Chairman D. A. Ripley of the property committee reported having investigated prices on available ground for the proposed combination senior and junior high school and found that prices around $40,000 with a possibility of a slight reduction by some property owners if the board makes some sort of definite offer. He cited one instance where a property dropped from $16,000 to $12,000.

It will be necessary, Mr. Ripley said, to spend about $1,500 this summer in repairing the present school buildings.

When bids for supplies for the next term were opened an amazing increase in prices was shown. The cost of paper and other materials is so high and fluctuates so rapidly that there was little competition for the supply contract, jobbers not caring to estimate. Roberts & Meek of Harrisburg secured most of the contracts although carmine ink and pens will be purchased from Thomas & Brown of Connellsville. Examination paper which last year was bought for 19 cents had increased to 55 cents this year; ink that used to be 25 cents a quart was 59 cents and there were similar large advances. There were only three bidders and the Harrisburg concern was the only one to bid on all the articles.

The finance committee's recommendation that exonerations of 1,403.25 in E. L. Floto's duplicate be allowed was passed as was another from the same committee to the effect that the Connellsville Machine & Car Company be exonerated from taxes amounting to $518.25, for two years prior to January, 1915.

It was decided to ask Tax Collector H. C. Norton to give a note for the balance of $7,000 still uncollected on the 1914 duplicate. This will remove the necessity of borrowing money for current school bills and the collector can make payments on the note as he would if the duplicate were not closed up.

A lease for Fayette Field as an athletic field was secured from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad under which the board gets the use of the field for the payment of $5 a month and taxes. The lease is for a period of 30 days only. The board will ask exoneration from city and county tax. One clause in the lease which provides that the ground shall not be occupied by anyone but the lessee caused some discussion. It was decided to ask the railroad to make it clear that the board may lease the field to circuses or other amusement enterprises that may want to show there.

The treasurer reported a balance of $6.63 in the general fund and $1,749.55 in the sinking fund.

All members were present at the meeting, which was in session until nearly 10.15.

LOT IS READY

Ashes Have Been Spread and Owners May Now Park Autos.

The Frisbee lot on the corner of Apple street and Meadow lane, donated to the Business & Professional Men's Association for a parking place for automobiles, has been cleaned up and is ready for use. Several wagon loads of coke ashes have been spread over the lot for a base and the entire space was cleared yesterday by workmen put on the job by the association.

The entrance to the lot is from Meadow lane the same gate also being used for an exit. The lot is free to all automobilists and there is no limit to the time a car may be left there.

The association expects that now since a parking space is available so close to the center of the city the curbs will be cleared of many machines which are left standing by the hour while the owner conducts his business. Putting the car in the parking space will also enable drivers to avoid arrest for violation of a city ordinance.

To Lay Walk.

The Shaw Motor Company will shortly have a concrete walk laid around the new garage on the West Side.

COURT HOLDS OFFICERS HAD RIGHT TO CONFISCATE BOOZE AT ALLEGED SPEAKEASY

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, May 2.—In an opinion handed down by Judge E. H. Reppert in court today in which a new trial was refused B. Pacaroni, of Mount Sterling, convicted at the March term of court of selling liquor without license, a new phase of the liquor question was decided. In his motion for a new trial, Pacaroni held that the taking of the liquor found in his cellar by the officers was in violation of his constitutional rights, and that the court erred in permitting the jury to be taken to the basement of court house to view the liquor in evidence.

"We are satisfied that the officers were acting within their lawful authority," said Judge Reppert in the opinion, "that they had the right to take possession of any carry away the goods set forth in the defendant's petition and to hold as evidence against the defendant and to produce them at the trial."

Regarding the taking of the jury to the basement of the court house, Reppert said: "In the present case it would not have been physically impossible to bring the liquors in evidence into court, but it would have required much time labor and caused great inconvenience. The course followed took but little time, caused no serious inconvenience and did the defendant no injury of which he has just cause to complain."

B. Pacaroni and Dominick Stone were arrested at Mount Sterling last December 31 by Constable Mont McCormick on a warrant issued at the instance of County Detective John J. Smith, who charged the men with selling liquor without license. On last January 6, the authorities removed from the cellar of Pacaroni 14 barrels of wine, 2 barrel of rum, 1 keg of rum, 1 keg of wine, 10 bottles of bitters, 6 bottles of brandy and 65 dozen bottles of essence of ginger and splits of ether. Stone was found not guilty by the jury and Pacaroni was convicted.

Two divorce decrees were handed down by Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen. Mrs. Louise S. Spangler of Uniontown, formerly Miss Louise S. Laughead, for five years cashier and bookkeeper in a Uniontown store, was granted a divorce from Earl R. Spangler of Pittsburg, a railroad baggagemaster. They were married June 14, 1911, at Pittsburg. Personal indignities were alleged.

Mrs. Lena Cook of Uniontown, was granted a divorce from Fritz Cook. Judge Van Swearingen in his decree directed that Mrs. Cook shall be at liberty to marry again, but forever prohibits her former husband from remarrying.

ALL OLD TEACHERS CHOSEN; ELECTION OF SOME IS MADE CONDITIONAL; THREE QUIT

All of the present corps of public school teachers who had applied for next term were elected at a meeting of school board last night and they were given until June 2 to sign contracts. Once these contracts are signed a teacher may not accept a position under any other school district of the state without first being released by the local board. Only three teachers did not apply. W. W. Harris and Miss Marie Kenney of the high school faculty and Miss Edith Gallagher of the grades.

It is understood that the election of some of the old teachers is made conditional upon their complying with certain rules laid down by the board. These are not educational, Superintendent S. P. Ashe states.

A new standard of educational qualifications for all teachers has been adopted. It reads:

"In order to insure the School District of the City of Connellsville of securing teachers who have had proper educational qualifications and teaching experience, it is resolved that for the school term beginning September, 1916, the minimum requirements for consideration of applicants be:

"For positions in the primary, intermediate and grammar grades:

"First—College graduates or state normal graduates with a minimum of one year's successful experience.

"Second—High school graduates with professional certificates (This would mean at least two years' successful experience)

"Third — Satisfactory educational qualification other than college, state normal, or high school—holding permanent certificates.

"For positions in high school:

"First—For all teachers of academic subjects, college graduates with one year's successful experience.

"Second—In commercial branches, satisfactory academic training and graduate of accredited commercial institution, with one year's successful experience."

DON'T BE A SLAVE TO YOUR NERVES

Good Advice to Nervous People.

People who are excessively nervous, tired out and all run down, who get the jumps and fidgets, who can't concentrate their minds on work, have fits of blues, trembling, nervous headaches and dyspepsia and that "don't give a hang" feeling so common to nervous folks may take it as a certain fact that their trouble is due to impoverished or devitalized nerve force. Their nerve cells are starving and when they give out entirely complete nervous prostration or breakdown is the result.

A splendid treatment for weak nerves is found in the famous Margo Nerve Tablets composed of six of the best nerve vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These tablets go straight to the nerve cells and begin immediate action. Take a Margo Nerve tablet, wait 10 minutes and watch yourself perk up. They feed your famished nerve cells, start healthy blood circulation and normal digestion. Then you brighten up, put on a smile, get some of the old time "pep" back in your system and feel as happy as a clam at high tide. Margo Nerve Tablets are absolutely harmless, contain no dangerous habit forming drugs, are easy to take, inexpensive and the Laughrey Drug Co. and other leading druggists sell them on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back.—Adv.

NO MASS MEETING

West Side Residents Get Mysterious Call.

Three residents of the West Side, living between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, attended a meeting of the city council last evening, and when asked to state their business said they had been informed that a mass meeting of the residents of that section was to be held in the building to object to the manner of making assessments for street paving by the county viewers recently

The parties did not give the names of the one who called the meeting but the councilmen mentioned the name of a large property owner in that section. One man said he got a letter notifying him that the meeting was to be held at the City Hall but did not remember what name was signed to it. Council had heard nothing of the proposed meeting before last evening's session.

The residents of that part of the city object to paying the same price for the 21-foot paving done in front of their properties as the neighbors living farther down the hill who have 36 feet of brick laid in front of the lots

Why

Less mileage

No, Sir; mileage is not altogether a question of gas. Oil's gotta lot to do with it, you bet. Do you know that, in actual tests, cars have been known to yield as much as five additional miles per gallon of gas when the right lubricant was used? 'Sfact.

You oughta be getting that extra mileage, especially since it doesn't cost extra. There's one safe, sure way of taking figures off your gas and oil bill and putting them on the speedometer where they belong.

Use the combination—Atlantic Gas for fuel; Atlantic Motor Oils for lubrication. You can't beat that team anywhere.

Atlantic Polarine is THE oil for eight out of ten cars. The alternative is one of the other three principal oils—Atlantic "Light," Atlantic "Medium" or Atlantic "Heavy."

The reputation of the oldest and largest lubricant manufacturers in the world stands back of these four oils. Start using Atlantic Motor Oils today and note the difference in mileage.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A Simple, Safe, Reliable Way.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that overstout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from A. A. Clarke or any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, footsteps become lighter, your work seems easier, and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.—Adv.

"I'M IMPROVING EVERY WAY" HE FIRMLY STATES

Prominent Scrantonian tells How Master Medicine Gave Him Relief.

J. L. Vliet, of 303 Linden street, Scranton, past commander of Camp 8, Sons of Veterans, and captain of First Company, Second Regiment, S. V. C., Pennsylvania Brigade, said recently:

"I have suffered intensely for a long while from gastritis and indigestion. Whatever I ate seemed to produce bad after effects, such as gas on my stomach and nausea.

"In fact, I was always, or very generally, choked up from a gaseous, sour stomach, as if my food fermented continually.

"My distress was not confined entirely to the day time, as I have been awakened suddenly from my sleep at night by a choking sensation. The blood would seem to rush to my head and I would almost grow black in the face before I could get relief and begin breathing normally again.

"The trouble annoyed me no little and I became run down in every way. I lost strength and was nervous and depressed at times.

"I heard about this Tanlac and I decided to try it, although I had little faith in it helping me, as I had tried so many things which had failed to do me any good. I was surprised, however. I began improving after using only a few doses of Tanlac, and I have been improving constantly ever since. I put the medicine to what I called a supreme test the other evening when I attended a banquet, and felt no ill after-effects from what I ate there.

"This Tanlac is not only straightening my indigestion out, but seems to soothe and strengthen my stomach. I am improved in every way and I attribute it to the medicine."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, referred to by Mr. Vliet, is now sold here by The Connellsville Drug Company, where the preparation can now be had.—Adv.

Start your married life under the most pleasant surroundings in private, free from the gaze of the boarding house and its idle gossip that has ruined so many happy unions so soon after the wedding. Live a life of independence! Particularly when it's all within your means and so easily possible.

We Are Proud of the Results.

We can't help taking a certain amount of pride in this outfit. In the first place, because of its beauty and practicability and, second, because of the fact that we are able to afford to sell this remarkable outfit of furniture at this exceptionally low price.

After Much Experimentation this Room Outfit Was Created

We wanted this room outfit to be all that any young people could ask for. Not too expensive—yet, on the other hand, not the cheapest! (We sell outfits at all prices.) We wanted it to contain all of the essential pieces of furniture, yet, on the other hand, we wanted the furniture to be of excellent design.

If Bought Singly this Outfit Would Total $50 More.

We feel quite certain that if you bought this outfit piecemeal—the dining table here and the dresser there, and the davenport somewhere else—that the total cost for this suite would be at least $50.00 more than the price at which the complete four roomsful are sold here.

All the joys and pride that go with a beautifully furnished home are yours for only $169.00

The greatest force in the community for creating human happiness is credit, particularly as applied to furniture. Just think of two young people crossing the threshold of marriage, starting their married life in a perfectly appointed home, with every essential bit of furniture, even to a davenport to accommodate visitors.

We Have 100 Outfits at this Price

That is not very many, and if you are planning on getting married, or if married just planning on starting housekeeping, come in and look at this suite as quickly as possible. Remember, looking doesn't mean buying. You're always welcome here. But after you've looked you'll know if you want one of these suites, and a small deposit will reserve one for you.

Won't Take Long to Pay for this Outfit

We have made these terms so very low, not because it was necessary, but because we want the friends of this store to be the loyalest kind of friends. We don't do things by halves. And lastly, please don't feel under any obligation to us for extending this convenient credit. We prefer selling on credit because it makes us more friends and lasting friends.

TAXING THE CONSUMER.

The consumer pays the tax

This is a general proposition which has the force of an axiom, yet it is not without some exceptions By the tax we mean the added cost of the article or service imposed by the producers upon the consumers Whether that tax is paid cheerfully or complainingly depends wholly upon circumstances

The anthracite coal strike for example, has been settled in the customary manner by the simple process of granting the demands of the miners and advancing the price of anthracite coal to cover them The anthracite region is well defined well distributed, well regulated The price of its product is fixed from the inside In the settlement of the anthracite strike no attempt was made to consult the consumer His interest was not considered, yet it will be observed his was the only real interest The tax upon the consumer of anthracite, however will be so indirectly laid that the note of individual complaint will not be heard

The Pittsburg street railway employes are striking for increased wages and as a result have tied up the entire trolley system of the city and a large portion of the suburbs The public is greatly inconvenienced thereby The people are impatient today Tomorrow they will be angry After that their displeasure will increase and multiply as the discomforts of their denial are prolonged The cheap and convenient trolley service which has been furnished them in honest competition has come to be regarded as a public right which must not be trifled with

The people insist upon the settlement of the trolley strike not because they believe the demands of the strikers should be granted as a matter of justice but because the walking is inconvenient

But the trolley companies may not collect this increased toll from the public The public has come to believe that trolley fares are chronically extravagant, so that each demand for increased wages or added costs of trolley operation must be met out of the treasury of the company and not provided by the simple process of adding it to the car fare

It is possible, however that the profits of some public utilities have not yet reached the limit of the stage prescribed for the fixing of freight rates in the good old times when government regulation was a dream and corporate rule was a stern reality namely All the traffic will bear

AN UPLIFTER HIMSELF.

The church citizen is the best citizen of the community,' said Councilman John Duggan in an address on Sunday when he helped to break ground for the colored Baptist church on the West Side

Councilman Duggan has been misunderstood and misrepresented He has been held up in the community as a citizen of indifferent public morals He has been credited with being an unscrupulous politician gaining his election by devious methods He has been looked upon as far removed from the Uplifters of the Community

Yet he is a faithful member of the Catholic Church, and his religion is evidently truly catholic since it permits him to help launch a colored church of different denominational faith and to declare that it has a good purpose in the community

It is undeniably true that the church citizen is the best citizen in the community In thus publicly lending his aid and encouragement to good citizenship Councilman Duggan has shown himself to be a man of public spirit and moral advancement

Councilman Duggan has been discovered He is one of those Uplifters himself

SPEEDWAYS AND SIDEWALKS.

The Dunbar township speedway has claimed another victim this time an innocent lad run down while attempting like a flurried chicken to cross the road The matter will be investigated by a jury of inquest and the blame if any there be will no doubt be properly placed

But whether there is any personal liability in this Sunday tragedy or not there is something wrong with a situation which permits so many accidents of this character to happen This roadway is built of asphaltum, part of the way and is of such character as invites the automobile artist to run his machine on the high

The road is too narrow for machines and pedestrians It was supposed to have been built for both It should be provided with sidewalks, as should all roadways of like character built in the future Such roads should be posted or railed off, especially through towns and villages and the speedway given over to the speed artists

Fayette City Journal

The Connellsville Courier, that fearless sheet of a peerless inland city is surely not only seeing things but it is doing things But it couldn't be otherwise with Harry P Snyder at the steering gear Snyder the man with the vim and with the vigor back of the vim

The issue of The Courier for the 17th was made up of 24 pages and contained the history of The Courier together with a sketch of Mr Snyder's private and newspaper life There was much joy expressed in this issue and justly so because of the installation of a huge 24-page perfecting press the largest in the county with a capacity of 24,000 24 page papers per hour

The Courier is prospering and as a town or city is judged somewhat according to its newspaper the city of Connellsville must be exceedingly prosperous at the present time

We have been very much interested indeed in reading the issue of The Daily Courier copy of which you so kindly mailed to us recently and note particularly the very attractive advertisement you carry The manner in which this has been compiled and the evidence you offer are very conclusive as far as the average property owner is concerned and having had considerable experience in advertising the writer feels that this sort of advertisement should bring results

CAUGHT AT KUT

Omaha

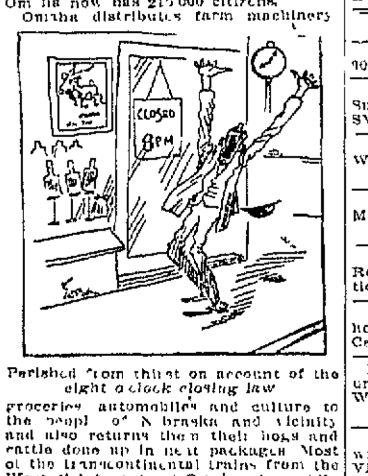

By GEORGE FITCH

Author of 'At Good Old Siwash'

Omaha the big town of Nebraska and the easternmost whoop of the great unmuffled West was first discovered by Messrs Lewis and Clark who encountered a magnificent smell while ascending the Missouri river over a century ago and reported later that the locality possessed great natural resources for the packing house business This proved to be the case and millions of hogs have met an untimely but scientific end in South Omaha which is connected with the city proper by a story and highly nutritious southwest wind

Omaha was first settled about half a century ago but remained a village until the world tried to crowd into Nebraska in the eighties Then it arose and became a city at the rate of about one ward per diem In 1890 it had 140,000 people according to the census takers who were not only loyal Omahogs but who were getting paid on the piecework system In the next ten years Omaha held a census and the government changed its census supervisors The result was appalling Omaha could only muster 102,000 people in 1900 and Kansas City began metropolizing for the Missouri Valley Omaha now has 215,000 citizens.

Omaha distributes farm machinery

Perished from thirst on account of the eight o'clock closing law

groceries automobiles and culture to the people of Nebraska and vicinity and also returns them their hogs and cattle done up in neat packages Most of the transcontinental trains from the West disintegrate at Omaha also while tourists from the credulous East usually leave the cars in this city and spend a few hours hunting for Indians and buffalo within its

Omaha is loyally supported by all Nebraska which meets annually in the city at the fall festival of the Knights of Ak Sar-Ben and buys everything from steam threshers to plug hats The city sits high on the Nebraska hills above the Missouri and is full of handsome homes with vacuum cleaners and good literature in them It also has the greatest smelter in the world a suburb presented to it by the Missouri river which took it away from Iowa a number of extinct United States senators the largest Bee in captivity issuing three editions daily the finest private art gallery between Chicago and San Francisco and many other interesting sights including a morgue filled each night with the pale forms of those who have perished from thirst on account of the eight o'clock closing law

Bridge is Free.

The bridge spanning the Allegheny river at New Kensington has been made free by the county commissioners of Westmoreland and Allegheny counties It was turned over at midnight Sunday night

Church Advertising

"I believe," says Dr Talcott Williams, "that if churches spent as much for advertising as they do for music, they would have larger congregations and better worship

"If great causes were to spend more money in the public press instead of depending on begging for their support they would undoubtedly come much nearer to success "

Thought is moving in this direction The churches are using more and better advertising while many public movements have been successfully carried on through the advertising columns of the daily newspapers

ANTI-SPITTING CAMPAIGN ON IN MOUNT PLEASANT

Garbage Dumping Within the Town Limits Must Also Stop.

MOOSE MINSTRELS MADE A HIT

Various Musical Numbers are Fine and Scenic Effects Can Not be Surpassed; Civic Club to Install Waste Paper Cans Throughout the Town.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 2.—Council held a meeting last evening and the matter of spitting on the streets and tubercular fumigation was brought before the council by Hugh Close, secretary of the board of health. A motion was adopted asking that council work with the board of health and that they make an inspection of the town with the members of the board of health. All bills were ordered paid and the burgess turned $73 into the borough treasury for last month. The matter of garbage being dumped over town was taken up and it was decided that every precaution be taken to stop this.

Last night was the opening of the Moose minstrel in the Cox Theatre and it was packed to the doors. The soloists were among the best in this vicinity and included I. Levy, William McNaughton, Annabelle Fitzpatrick, Marcus True, Tom Murphy, Thomas Wilkey and Robert Eaton. Mike Murphy, who is only 12 years old, is a wonder in himself as he has an excellent voice for his age. The trio from Bowens Singing Orchestra, composed of Bowen, Lewellyn and Barkell was a success and was greatly enjoyed by the audience. William Murray, the cornet soloist, was very good. The closing chorus, picturing the warring nations, made a big hit. Mike Mullin and Crosby Thompson, as end men, were a scream.

The Civic Club held one of the best meetings for some time yesterday, at the home of their president, Mrs. Mary Marsh. There was a good attendance. A reception for new members and a social hour followed the meeting. The matter of street cans for refuse was discussed and it was decided to ask council for one-half of the money to pay for cans and the Civic Club would pay half. The better films committee reported that better films approved for children would be shown in the Grand Opera House about May 20.

The school board held their regular monthly meeting last evening and only regular routine business was transacted. The next meeting will be held June 5, when the teachers will be elected.

A very mysterious card appeared on telegraph poles and other conspicuous places yesterday morning reading as follows: "Mr. Miner Your Turn Is Next." Investigation as to who placed them there was made but no one was able to find out.

SAYS DRINK LEMONADE FOR RHEUMATISM

Relief from rheumatism and sciatica can be obtained by drinking lemonade and avoiding alcoholic drinks.

To get rid of this stubborn disease, however; to stop the twinges, pain and swelling, and drive the poisonous accumulations from the joints and muscles, all generously-inclined druggists will tell you to take half a teaspoonful of Rheuma daily until all misery ceases.

Rheuma is a powerful remedy, because only a powerful remedy can overcome such a terrible disease; but Rheuma acts speedily—the first dose taken and you'll know that you will soon be your healthy, happy self again.

A. A. Clarke and all druggists know what Rheuma will do, for they sell a great deal of it and guarantee that two 50-cent bottles will overcome rheumatic agony or money back.—Adv.

HOW TO ERADICATE ALL SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Advice by a Skin Specialist.

The best means I have ever found for removing all signs of disfiguring growths of hair on the face, neck, arms or hands, is a new preparation called Mrs. Osgood's Wonder. I have recommended it in thousands of cases and I know personally of its ability to banish every hair forever. It cannot injure the skin or complexion and is quite inexpensive.

You can get Mrs. Osgood's Wonder from Laughrey Drug Company or any up-to-date druggist. Signed Money-Back Guarante with every package. Do not apply this treatment except where total destruction of hair is desired.—Adv.

Indigestion May be Due to Constipation

Neglect of Important Function May Seriously Impair the Health.

There are many people who believe they suffer from indigestion when their discomfort really is due to a constipated condition.

Bloat, with its attendant mental depression, sick-headache, the belching of sour stomach gases, etc., are frequently due to inaction of the bowels. Relieve the congestion and the trouble usually disappears. The use of cathartics and purgatives should be avoided, however; these shock the system unnecessarily and, at best, their effect is but temporary. A mild laxative is far preferable.

The compound of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle, is highly recommended. Mr. Benj. Bassin, 360 Madison St., Gary, Ind., thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin a wonderful medicine; for four years he had a severe case of indigestion and constipation before trying Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he is glad to recommend to all who suffer with stomach and bowel trouble.

BENJ. BASSIN.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be in every home for use when occasion arises. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

CIRCUS TICKETS

Wonderful System Prevails With Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Show.

No individuals about a great circus institution are regarded with greater awe and solemn wonder than the three persons who sell tickets in the "big show" wagon. There is something almost uncanny about their daily exhibition. Their flying hands put to shame the clutching display of the octopus. No quicker brained, more resolute or more peculiarly-gifted men exist than are with the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, which will come to Connellsville Monday, May 8.

With eyes fixed steadily before them, fingers and hands never lingering or sluggish, but rejecting a counterfeit offering like a flash, the ticket sellers work as if human automatons. Thousands of dollars change hands in a brief period. Everybody seems excited and sometimes unreasonable. Uniformed employes maintain order. The wheels of the ticket wagon are buried to the hubs or it would be swept away in the rush. A mountain of bills and coin grows and is toppled into baskets. Soon these are filled and money litters the floor. There is no chance to assort or collect them until the ticket sale has ceased, and yet the day will record a balance as correct in details as the most exacting banking institution.

Tickets are distributed to the sellers in bundles of 50. They are placed in racks above their heads. The scrutiny of a few moments in deducting the empty racks from those untouched shows the exact sale. The assistant treasurer furnishes the management with a box office statement and as a double check the ticket boxes at the main entrance are counted up by an auditor. Instant dismissal and possible criminal prosecution awaits an employe of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus guilty of "short change" or other swindling methods.

Every department of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus is governed with a system equaled to that followed at the ticket wagon. The big show has gone on growing every year until today it is unequaled by any other tented exhibition. In the neighborhood of 1,000 people are connected with the enterprise. Three of the longest trains ever used to handle a circus transport the institution from city to city. More than 400 circus artists of international fame appear on the program in addition to the famous Carl Hagenbeck trained wild animals. An immense street pageant at 10 a. m. will be given on the exhibition day. The performances are at 2 and 8 P. M.

TRADING STAMP CONCERN IS SUED FOR BIG DAMAGES

By College Professor Who Alleges His Name Was Used

ON A COUNTERFEIT CIRCULAR

The Original of Which Was Designed to Secure Information as to the Coupon Industry With a View to Bringing Reforms or Legislation.

A legal action has been brought in New York which is not without interest to merchants in Connellsville who issue and to customers who receive the green trading stamp. An organization known as the American Fair Trade League was launched sometime ago, the purposes of which were "to promote honesty in manufacturing, in advertising and in merchandising and to prohibit and penalize unfair competition."

In the line of its activities the league employed Dr. Lee Galloway, associate professor of commerce and industry at New York University, to investigate the trading stamp industry with a view to securing information which might bring about trade reforms and possibly legislation. During his investigation Dr. Galloway sent a circular letter to merchants who give coupons with the request that answers be given to certain questions which were a part of the circular. Shortly after these circulars were sent out Dr. Galloway received a letter from George Caldwell, president of the Sperry & Hutchinson Company, proprietors of the green trading stamp system, and with it a batch of question lists filled out. Caldwell wrote that "for some reason or other" the answers had been sent to the Sperry & Hutchinson concern and assured Dr. Galloway of his support of an impartial investigation.

About 10 days later another batch of the blanks were received from Caldwell. While assorting these a clerk discovered a blank containing the questions, with the answers printed on it. At the top of this sheet were the words, "Suggested Answers." Like the blanks sent out by the league Dr. Galloway says, it contained his name. All the answers were favorable to the use of trading stamps.

Alleging that his circular and signature had been counterfeited, Dr. Galloway has brought suit against the stamp concern and its president for $50,000 damages, asserting that he "has been greatly damaged in his reputation and standing as an impartial investigator and as an economist."

One of the questions asked by the American Fair Trade League was: "What induced you to use trading stamps?" The "suggested" answer to this was: "To increase my volume of cash business." Another question was "Does their use tend to draw away the attention of the customer from the quality and price of the goods to get premiums?" The "suggested" answer was "No."

BOXING SHOW TONIGHT

Sharp of Uniontown and Creely of Ohio Will Meet.

The fighters in the Sharp-Creely bout to be staged on the West Side this evening all arrived this afternoon and are in the best of shape for the scrap. Sharp and Creely, the main attraction, will fight ten rounds, with a fast semi-final of eight rounds between Terril Duncan, the Uniontown colored lightweight and Kid Lupo of McKees Rocks, a Pittsburg fighter. The preliminary will be six rounds between Johnny Kotch of Braddock and Battling Nelson of Pittsburg.

The ring is in readiness for the bout, being put up this morning, and a record-breaking crowd for this city is expected. A good seat sale has been recorded and the evening of the fight always brings many out of town fans to the city. Cars for all points will be held until after the show.

This will be the first appearance of either Banty Sharp or Johnny Creely in this city. Both have good reputations back of them and a fast bout with all the scientific touches is promised.

TROTTER WINS FIRST GAME

Defeats Parkltown Yorks of Mount Pleasant, 9-0.

The Trotter baseball team opened its season with a victory over the Parkltown Yorks in a game played at Mount Pleasant on Saturday, the score being 9-0. Labiak for Trotter allowed the Yorks but one hit, that being by Hurbal, the first man to face him, and he struck out 17. His single did not amount to anything, his teammates being unable to get him around the bases.

Kearns, catcher for Trotter, showed excellent form with the bat, getting two two-base hits to his credit. The work of the Trotter aggregation showed up for early season form and the boys claim they will be in the race for the Lynch cup at the end of the season. The score:

PETEY DINK—Pop Didn't Want a Doctor—He Wanted a Seamstress. By C. A. Voight.

A FOUL OF VILLA'S MEN

by Capt. George B. Rodney

COPYRIGHT 1916 "FRANK A. MUNSEY"

The bullets whined over the house; some of them kicked up spurts of dust from the adobe walls. An answering shot from the house told that the defenders were wide awake. Kynaston saw the shot take ground on the slope below him

At once awake to the necessity of finding some way of getting to the house undiscovered, Kynaston scanned the ground in his front carefully.

The hillside where he lay was cut up by many acequias, or little ditches, made by the rains of past years. These little ditches ran straight down the slope toward the house. Where these ran out into the burned alfalfa patches stood the cottage, and beyond this again the corrals and the stables

Still farther to the south, beyond the lines of the adobe walls, the ground sloped more gently to a little stream bed bordered with cottonwoods, along which the attacking party had taken up its position

"H-m' It's a good thing for us that the house is between us and harm. We will try to work our way down that acequia to our left. Come on, Nolan!"

So, belly down, as coyotes crawl on their game the two Americans very slowly began their advance on the beleaguered house.

One, two, three hundred yards they crept down the hillside. Presently, when they reached a point where the acequia opened out into the grassland, Kynaston would go no further.

'We've got to stay here till we can attract their attention,' he explained. "If we go any further we'll be shot at. While I don't particularly mind being shot at by a greaser I don't covet havin' old Upton line his sights on me. Raise up a bit, Nolan, and stick your hat up on the end of your rifle so they can see it."

The hat thus showing above the edge of the ditch, was presently seen by the defenders A shout from the rear wall of the cottage brought old Mr. Upton to the massive door, which he threw open. Kynaston and Nolan saw him standing for a moment with a pair of field glasses at his eyes, scanning them curiously.

Presently, reassured, he waved his hand. Still belly down among the red dust and the empty cans that for years had been thrown there from the house the two soldiers crept painfully down through the chicken yard, past the pony corral and so up into the back yard of the house itself

Mr Upton shook hands warmly with the newcomer

"Where're your men, Kynaston" Where're your men? You never came here by yourself!"

"What's the trouble?" asked Kynaston "We heard the firing and saw the flames, what was it?"

"Hay corrals Two hundred tons of new hay that those devils burned up for me They sent word that if I didn't pay them ten thousand dollars for what they call their 'war chest they'd burn the place'

"Who are they?"

"Rebels, of course. Some of Villa's men You never can tell who they are They'd been down there since before daylight What're you going to do? Where're your men?"

"Five miles back Left 'em on the last ridge with orders not to come up unless I signal for 'em I dare not start anything on this side of the line, you know You can pull out here by the same way that we got here and refugee across the line, to my men'

'And leave all I've got in the world' No thanks. But I should like to get my daughter and Mrs Fane out if we can Can you get them across?"

"Sure thing Come on."

"Come into the house and I'll get them started to pack up so you can get right back

Kynaston stood not upon the order of his going, but went at once, for the memory of the pretty Miss Upton was more than enough to send the blood flowing faster through his veins

Dorothy met him in the great hall. It was filled with smoke from the lower line of loopholes, where two of the employees of the mine were firing rapidly at the attacking party below them. The smoke sucked back through the hall as Mr. Upton opened the door.

"I'm more than glad to see you again!" cried Dorothy as she gave him her both hands "How did you get here and—why?

"To get you out," he said quickly "But you must come at once. We can't delay a moment. At any minute they may work around to flank you on the hillside Upton, and if they do there will be no chance of anyone getting away from the house'

Mrs. Fane who had joined the group, was fanning white faced.

"You girls get your things at once,' ordered Upton. "Kynaston is right He cannot cross the line to help us in force, and the only thing he can do is to take the two of you off my hands Dorothy Marion, go and get your things Go I say! I shall stay here until something turns up. I do not mean to have this place looted without taking it out of the hides of the men who do it Go, girls!"

As the two women ran hastily to their rooms to get what few things they could take with them Upton quickly outlined his movements and Kynaston's.

"Take them to your camp, Kynaston and keep them there till you hear from me I'll probably be with you by tomorrow or the next day. I shall not leave here till I have come to some sort of an understanding about this property. They do not loot the place openly. Here are the girls now"

Nolan, looking north under the sharp of his hand through the partially opened back door was volleying low-toned curses.

'I beg pardon, sir, but—I couldn't help it. There go our horses, sir'

He pointed to two little brown spots that showed momentarily against the brown of the hillside The two Americans' horses were loose and had taken the chance to return to their own camp—five miles away.

"It's a good thing we saw it in time —Look out! Low bridge for all this skulls!"

Wheeee-ip! A bullet whined past Upton and buried itself in the heavy door post. It came straight from the hill where Kynaston and Nolan had secreted themselves an hour before, away up in the rear of the house

Upton dragged them back into the house and slammed the door, which he barred.

"I wonder what in the world that means' said Mrs Fane breathlessly, oblivious to the fact that Kynaston had taken and kept hold of her hand.

"It means," said Upton, working feverishly to close the shutters of the windows on the north side, "that they've got men on that side of us—Now, Kynaston, you said that you could signal your sergeant to come to help us What was your signal?"

Kynaston shook his head.

"We must use every other means before we do that," he said slowly, 'If our men cross the line as an armed body it means intervention and—war."

"We haven't got a whole lot of choice" commented Upton savagely, 'Don't you see that they've got us surrounded on all sides? There comes their line, moving out of the cottonwoods to the attack now. Get to your loopholes, men"

And Kynaston, peering through the narrow loophole that Upton had cut in the shutter, saw a thin line of men moving forward across the open land in widely extended order.

The attack was on.

CHAPTER V.

Water!

Kynaston watched carefully the line of men which was working out of the clump of cottonwood trees to the south. He noted that they came forward very slowly, seeking cover carefully, and that they were a good seven hundred yards away

At that range his own rifle and that of Nolan were the only two that could be counted upon for efficient service, the ordinary hunting rifle rarely being sighted for over three hundred yards He called Nolan to a port-hole on the front face of the building

Then were five other men in the house—Mr Upton John Wilkes, an old miner about sixty five years old, an American mine surveyor named Wilson and two Mexican servants one of whom was the cook. In addition to these there were himself and Nolan, Mrs Fane and Miss Upton, and an old Mexican woman who had lived at the place for twenty years

"First of all, Upton—it's a bit late to ask about it now if arrangements have not already been made—but how is your water supply?

Upton looked at him, frankly puzzled for a moment

"Heaven knows! Miranda there' —indicating the old woman—"generally gets the water that we drink from the spring in a bucket, but we pump water to the bathroom from the windmill, yonder He pointed down the slope to a windmill faintly discerned against the line of the green alfalfa patch.

"That'll be the first point of attack then, growled Kynaston. 'Nolan, get your sights for six hundred and fifty yards and cut loose at the first person you see going for the windmill They'll be trying to disconnect it."

"Too late, sir, said Nolan, peering out 'They've got it already'

"Worse luck!" snapped Kynaston. He turned again to Upton

'How much water in the house?"

Upton ran quickly back into the kitchen whence he came back with a bucket in his hand, a look of chagrin upon his face

"There is only this one bucket and it isn't full by a long shot. What'll we do, Kynaston,"'.

"Do like Br'er Terrapin did when the cornfield was set on fire He 'sot and tuk it In you remember your Uncle Remus," said Kynaston grimly "Put that bucket somewhere where it can't be upset, Upton It's all we've got, and the Lord knows when we'll get any more.

"Make the ladies sit down on the floor, Upton, below the line of the loopholes, so that no stray shot can hit them.

"There they come! And by Jove, it looks as if they mean business at last' Sending a flag of truce forward The nerve of the beasts'

'Will you see the flag of truce, Upton? I can't go. You see, I'm in a uniform and it must not get out that a United States officer is over here on Mexican soil. Take your revolver with you and don't let them come within ten yards of you. I'll cover you from the house."

So Upton, laying aside his rifle went down the hill to meet the pseudo-officer, who, with an orderly behind him, was signaling for an interview When they met, Upton left no doubt in the officer's mind that the miner was angry.

"Well, what is it you pirates want?" he asked truculently 'Are you tryin' to make a livin' by your own unaided efforts?"

"We have come to collect from the holders of Mexican property a part of their ill gotten gains in order, senor that the brave and patriotic defenders of the republic shall not be hungry.'

'Well, you've undertaken a grown man's job, then," snarled Upton "I've never yet seen a Mexican who wasn't hungry all the time. What specifically do you ask?'

"We demand the payment by the Santa Cruz mine of five thousand dollars in cash and the surrender of all the arms, ammunition and powder, including dynamite, that you have, as well as the permanent loan of all your able-bodied horses."

"H-m! And what do I get out of it?"

"You will have our protection and our assurances that you will not be bothered or annoyed by any further compulsory loans made to the provisional republic"

Upton fumbled for a moment in his pocket, from which he finally produced two papers. These he handed to his interviewer.

"There are two other 'protections given me last month," he said tersely. "You will see that one is for two thousand and the other for fifteen hundred"

We will guarantee you against any further contributions,' said the other ingratiatingly

"If your own force isn't strong enough to take my place it certainly isn't strong enough to protect me against anything No, senor, I won't pay you a single cent—not a sou markee I've stood all I'm going to stand from you fellows Now I'll appeal to the American consul.'

The other spat derisively

"Better trust to me!' he said vainglariously. "But if you do not surrender immediately, but compel me to take the place, I tell you frankly, senor, I shall show no quarter—"

"Well, I can't help that, can I? I will give you, sir, exactly what you can take—an' it won't strain your back to carry it, either," snapped Upton

"Very well, senor," said the Mexican 'I give you half an hour to consult with your companions. If at the end of that time you decide to accept my terms you have only to wave a white flag from your front door. I shall know what it means

"If there is no flag—then all that follows is your own fault. Adios senor May the saints teach you wisdom'" The Mexican strode off to his men while Upton picked the best way up the slope to the house.

The long half hour came to an end at last Suddenly down by the corrals a rifle cracked A bullet whooped through the window where Kynaston stood. Lodged in the heavy window-post At the smack of the impact the youngster sprang back.

Raising his rifle, he fired at a head that showed above a stone The flat, smacking report and the heavy recoil of the piece steadied him.

"Did you hit him?' asked a soft cuss steady voice behind him. He turned to see Dorothy standing near him.

"Don't think so. Please get back, Miss Upton. You might be hit, you know, and then—"

His eyes told the rest of it Dorothy laughed a little.

'What do you think the upshot of this matter will be?" she asked "If you're in this fix on my account"—blushing, she added hastily—"and—or—Mrs Fane's I'm more than sorry—"

"I'm not," he answered curtly. 'Stop that— Excuse me please."

'That," was the sneaking approach, belly-down in the dust, of two of the attackers who, in attempting to gain the shelter of a huge cottonwood tree, recklessly exposed themselves. The two army rifles instantly took toll. One man rolled over and lay still, while the other was sent limping to cover.

Dorothy covered her face with her hands for a moment, then turned away with a little shudder. It was war, she knew, but it was hard to accustom herself to the idea of death and suffering inflicted under her very eyes

An oath from Upton made Kynaston turn He saw John Wilkes, the old engineer, step to the table and, picking up the dipper, help himself to a drink of water.

The dipper was still immersed in the water when there came another flat, smacking report, followed by a crash as of a stone on a board. The bucket broke into fragments and fell from the table, the water dripping down upon the floor.

Mr Wilkes stood gazing upon the ruin

"What the— he ejaculated helplessly

"Bullet through the east loophole," said Kynaston shortly "The bucket was in the line of fire Now, you've done it, Mr Greaser! That's all the water we had"

Hour after hour the defenders sat beside their loopholes watching the slow advance of their besiegers The Mexicans did not dare advance across the open under the fire of the rifles from the house They were obviously waiting for night to cover their real approach. Kynaston dreaded what the night would bring, for there was no way to prevent the Mexicans from getting to close range under cover of the darkness Then when the besiegers were within striking distance, it would be difficult indeed for the defenders to reply to the overwhelming intensity of the fire that would be opened upon the house so soon as daylight should come

The Heavy Recoil Steadied Him.

While Kynaston was cudgeling his brains to find some solution to the problem he saw old Wilkes puttering about the house, carefully gathering up all the empty tin cans. These the old man strung on a piece of rawhide that had been brought to the house to be made into a lariat His curiosity thoroughly aroused, Kynaston asked

"What are you doing with that Mr. Wilkes?"

"Can't git no mule-bells," said the old man sententiously; "they're all in the stables So I'm aimin' to string all these cans on a piece of rope an' hang 'em across the front an back roads after dark. Anybody stumblin' against 'em 'll rattle 'em, an' that 'll give us warnin'"

"That's what I've been trying to think of! Now, if we only had some water!"

There was no water; and the whole garrison knew it For hours the defenders, sticking close to the loopholes, knew thirst—grimy, dry-eyed thirst that froze the smile on the lips and cracked the corners of the mouth

A shot from the corral smacked against the rear wall of the house Instinctively the man behind the door post took cover A moment after the shot was fired a man came forward from the corral, displaying a dirty handkerchief on the end of a stick.

Mr. Wilkes spoke excitedly:

"Don't you do it! Anybody that goes out here now ain't got no sense They'll get you into the open and shoot you down. Don't pay no attention to 'em!"

"You must recognize it," said Kynaston "Come on, Upton, we'll see what they want"

But little time was given. There came a crack from the right, and a bullet whizzed uncomfortably close to Kynaston's shoulder landing with a vicious whit in the mass of clay chinking that formed the chimney Down came the half-baked stuff with a rattle.

Mr. Wilkes, thrusting his rifle through a crack between two of the logs, fired two shots in rapid succession

"You'll walk home, consarn you, if you go at all!" he growled.

Kynaston saw two of their horses down in the dust of the corral A storm of curses came from the edge of the clearing.

"See that you two keep under cover." The old man grinned a yellow-toothed grin over his shoulder at the defenders

Darkness fell over the little valley. With the coming of the night the fears of the little garrison increased.

"Just as like as not they'll try to sneak up and set fire to the house," said Mr. Wilkes. "It's as dry as punk We'd better keep men watching all night"

So the party was divided into two reliefs: Mr Wilkes, Upton, and a Mexican composed one; Kynaston, Nolan, and Wilson the other It was pitch-black; the hours passed like years. The night was so still, and the stillness so nerve-racking, that every crackle in the brush, every call of a night bird, every gurgle of the creek, brought the defenders to their loopholes in anticipation of an attack. But the night passed without alarm, though it was not until dim daylight showed the column of smoke from the besiegers' camp fire that the defense relaxed its vigilance

"I wish I dared run out to that creek bed for a bucket of water,' growled Kynaston. "Salt bacon isn't any too appetizing There are ponies in the stables behind, I'm going to try it." Give me the bucket."

Before anyone could stop him he seized a bucket and dashed into the stable A moment later they saw him flat upon his pony, carrying his rifle low and to the right, galloping down the trail to the creek bottom, where the water gurgled half-way between the two contending parties.

A hundred yards' A shot. Two hundred yards! A storm of bullets from the defense covered his reckless venture Three hundred yards! His pony, stumbling and slipping down the steep banks, plowed its nose along twelve feet of earth—and the young American found himself lying face down behind a mesquit bush on the banks of the stream, his hand holding the bucket over the edge, trying to haul back forty pounds of dirty water

A bullet whooped past his ear. The scream of a horse in pain made him turn, spilling half the contents of his bucket. His pony was down, shot through the barrel He wormed his way back to the shelter of its body, carrying with him the half-bucket of dirty water that meant life to the defenders of the house

Half-way to the house he got! Then the fusillade from the attackers made him throw himself to the ground in a wild attempt to seek cover. The answering roar from the loopholes of the house atop the slope behind him told him the grateful news that the garrison had seen his predicament.

Time after time a shot whooped close to his head Time after time he carefully pulled that half filled bucket with its precious contents closer to him so that it should not be spilled, Time after time he sank closer and still more close into the little hollow that sheltered him, biding his opportunity for a final scramble up hill to the safety of the house.

From this vantage-point on the slope, Kynaston could see one rebel after another attempt to take a position from which he could be outflanked and thus forced to run across the open space of the unsheltered hillside.

ST. PAUL'S ASYLUM WHOLLY SUPPORTED BY SUBSCRIPTIONS

Idlewood Institution is Doing a Good Work Without Aid From State; Addition Needed.

A campaign to raise funds to build an addition to St. Paul's Orphan Asylum at Idlewild is on and local men are canvassing Connellsville for subscriptions. In connection with this, a description of what the institution is and what work it is doing is timely.

St Paul's Orphan Asylum is the oldest charitable institution in Western Pennsylvania. It was established in 1836 in a small frame house on Second avenue, Pittsburg, by the Sisters of Charity. Several years later it was moved to a brick dwelling which stood on the site of the present convent of the Sisters of Mercy at Webster avenue and Chatham street. In 1846 the Sisters of Mercy assumed charge. At that time there were 70 girls in the institution. There was a separate orphanage for boys in Birmingham and a "farm" for larger boys at Cameron's Bottoms. In 1866 it was decided as a measure of economy and efficiency to consolidate the three institutions. This was done with the opening of the Tannehill Street Asylum in December, 1867. This institution, which has been built at a cost of $160,000, served well its purpose for 25 years. Then need of a larger building necessitated another move, this time to Idlewood, in Chartiers township, where the orphanage is still located.

The plant consists of five brick buildings, surrounded by 10 acres of fertile land, and represents an investment of $750,000. The original plans were drawn for six buildings to accommodate 2,000 children. The present campaign is to raise the money necessary to complete and equip the sixth building, which is absolutely necessary.

On April 10 there were 1,225 children in the orphanage. Since the foundation of the institution it has housed, fed, clothed, educated and made good useful members of society 18,138 children. These can now be found in all walks of life, many occupying responsible positions as a living testimonial to the value of the institution to the community.

Although the asylum takes children regardless of creed or race, it does not ask or receive state aid. It is supported entirely by voluntary contributions from the good people of Western Pennsylvania.

At the Theatres

SOISSON THEATRE.

"A KNIGHT OF THE RANGE"—The Universal Company presents the favorite actor, Henry D. Carey, in the five reel Western drama, "A Knight of the Range," at the Soisson Theatre today. It is a tremendous play with a strong plot. This remarkable production exceeds in interest and genuine heart thrills any film play of the Western plains and mountains ever shown on the screen. Written by Mr. Carey and produced by Jacque Jaccard it takes a unique position among the hundreds of Western photoplays heretofore produced. Unexcelled in natural scenery and superb acting it has many other features never before introduced in a motion picture play. Chief among the attractions is a band of champion rough riders and lariat wielders who display all their skill during the development of the story. Prominent in the cast are Peggy Cowdray, Olive Fuller Golden, Hoot Gibson and Bill Gettinger.

"THE RIVAL PILOTS," is a Bison railroad drama in two reels with Margaret Mayburn and Lee Hill in the cast. It is a thrilling railroad story in which two engineers are at war with each other and one of them triumphs temporarily by treacherous deeds but who finally ends his life in remorse. "The Stolen Melody" is a Powers drama with Doris Pawn and Sidney Ayres in the leading roles. The play is a pretty one telling of a composer who writes a splendid opera called the "Flower Girl" and the effect it has upon his sweetheart. "Hubby Put One Over," is a Joker comedy with Gale Henry and Lillian Peacock. It is a riot of laughter. Tomorrow, the favorite, J. Warren Kerrigan, comes in the five reel Bluebird feature, "Gay Lord Waring."

THE GLOBE.

MADAME LA PRESIDENT—Presenting Anna Held, truly one of the world's famous women, is featured today at the Globe. "Madame La President," one of the most popular of all French farces, provides Miss Held with a stunning vehicle for her film debut. One distinct novelty is to see Miss Held do exclusively in pantomime her world famous song "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave," a song she has sung to countless thousands throughout the world. That she gets it over in the theatre phrase, without uttering a note is eloquent proof of her powers as an expressionist. A Frenchman appears in the ministry of the Justice scene in "Madame La President," who looks too genuine to be true and whose beard may be suspected as a piece of makeup. On the contrary he is a native of France and the famous beard is real. As a matter of fact he is not an actor but a professor of languages and was discovered quite by chance. Ejected from the Hotel Boulouge after a gay party Anna Held calmly establishes herself for the night in the home of Augustin Galipaux the judge hating the order. As Mme Galipaux has just left Paris, this makes extremely amusing complications. The flabbergasted magistrates surrender to both Anna Held's threats and charms would be a story in itself were not the true rest of "Madame La President" enacted shortly afterwards in no less a place than the respected old ministry of justice in Paris when the august minister himself takes up the task of the gay soubrette's cavalier. Other members of the cast are Forrest Stanley, Herbert Standing, Page Peters, Yeaman Titus, Helen Eddy, Howard Davis, Mck LaStrange, Robert Newcomb and Frank Bonn.

LOTS OF INSTRUMENTS

Salvation Army Men Play Many Different Kinds.

Cadet Arnold Welter, who recently joined the Connellsville barracks of the Salvation Army plays a violin. This is a little out of the ordinary run of instruments played by the army men and it recalls to mind what different forms of music-making the various Salvation Army men located here have been addicted.

Captain Bamford played a cornet and made nice music with it. Ensign Smith did not play but he had a fine baritone voice. Captain Harrison went away out of the beaten path and brought music from the corrugated bellows of a concertina. Cadet Geiger, who just left recently, played a cornet. Captain L. N. Phelps, the present commander, does not play any instrument but he sings well and lustily.

PIMPLES COVERED FACE AND NECK

Formed Scales. Were Very Sore and Itchy. Hard and Red. Very Much Disfigured. In One Month

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My face and neck were covered with pimples, being bothered for years, but exposure to cold weather and using cheap soaps made them much worse, so much so they formed scales which were very sore and itchy and caused a lot of embarrassment. The pimples were rather small, hard and red and would fester and come to a head, but would not heal. My face was very much disfigured for the time being.

"I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I began using them and in one month my face was free from any disfigurement. I was healed." (Signed) F. E. Johns, 542 6th St., Pitcairn, Pa., July 15, 1915
